PLAN TO ESTABLISH FUND FOR SECURING INDUSTRIES

Charleroi Might "Ginger up" Some by Getting New Plants.

WILLIAMSPORT SYSTEM

Plan of Pennsylvania City will be Studied by Local People.

"What can be done to 'ginger-up' the old town?" asked a prominent Charleroi citizen recently. "We need something more here in the way of industries. It is my opinion that we should get together and employ some one to look after possible industries personally, whenever any are in prospect. I'm in favor of raising a fund for that purpose, and when something is promised have some good man devote his time to it and promote it like a private business enterprise."

Another citizen called attention this morning to the fact that the United States Steel corporation is dismantling two of its big plants at Bridgeport and Martins Ferry near Wheeling, and locating them elsewhere. One, he stated, goes to Morgantown, and the other is likely to be located at Sharon.

"I don't know, he added, 'but what one of them might have been landed here if the proper effort and influence had been put forth. Now that the business people here have disposed of the baseball indebtednes, they should be able to accumulate a fund for the purpose of promoting something in the way of more industries for Charleroi. I am heartily in favor of it."

In view the fact that the Clark farm above Dunlevy, which is being held for an industrial site, is available to the United States Steel corporation, it is believed that something might have been done toward locating one of the new mills there. This tract of land has been held for some years by the big industrial corporations, and when Donora was projected it was a toss-up until the very last which site to select, the Clark farm being given long and favorable consideration. Donora was chosen, it is said, on account of not being near any other large town, as it was the desire to operate a land company and build up a new town in connection with the installation of the big mills there.

There is a sentiment in favor of investigating what is known as the "Williamsport System," a method employed by the Williamsport Board of Trade in getting industries for that city. Not much is known of the details of the plan but the principal method is to endorse for necesssary working capital for a promising prospective industry, instead of giving a bonus. It is probable that some action will result before long, as the importance of work in this direction is being felt on all sides.

Someone Can't Play in Someone's Yard

New Castle Herald Likens Dispute to Backyard Scrap.

The Charleroi Mail accuses the Washington, Pa., Observer, owned by Mr. Acheson, of publishing plate matter sent out by the Democratic State committee during the campaign. The Observer replies in dignified fashion that it was published as advertising matter at regular rates. Of course the real cause of these little spats is the fact that some one is not allowed to play in someone else's back yard — New Castle Herald.

MURDERER CAPTURED

Man Who is Said to Have Killed Brownsville Foreigner Arrested.

Sheriff P. A. Johns of Fayette County returned early this morning from Youngstown, with Pasquale Roman, alias Ben Gurman, who is charged with the murder of a foreigner in the vicinity of the La Belle coal mines, near Brownsville last year. He was arrested at Youngstown about an hour after his marriage to Miss Lizzie Andrew, the step daughter of a wealthy Italian of Youngstown.

The man is said to have admitted his guilt and it is thought will plead guilty in court.

County Detective Alex. McBeth of Uniontown will make information against the man, charging murder. The bride of the man did not know that he was charged with the crime until after he was arrested, and then she declared that she wanted to go with him.

The members of the First Baptist church are arranging to give a supper at the church on Thursday evening, to be known as an "Old-Fashioned Supper." All the old-fashioned delicacies will be provided, and it is planned to make the supper one well worth the price. The Baptist ladies held a supper last year, and it proved exceedingly popular.

LENHART BEGINS SERVING TERM IN THE PEN TODAY

Took Sentence Cooly Imposed Yesterday by the Court—Must Serve Two Years and Pay Heavy Fine.

William L. Lenhart was taken to Riverside penitentiary this morning by Sheriff John C. Murphy to serve a two years' term for conspiracy in connection with the wrecking of the Peoples Bank of California.

Following the refusal of the Supreme Court to grant an appeal, and the affirming the judgement of the lower court by the Superior Court, and ordering that the defendant appear in the court below to be re-commtted, Lenhart appeared in court yesterday accompanied by his council, James A. Wiley.

District Attorney Acheson moved for sentence and Judge J. F. Taylor after calling attention to the fact that the Supreme Court had refused the appeal, then re-committed Lenhart to the pententiary.

There were no dramatic features. Lenhart took the sentence cooly and after bidding his counsel goodbye was taken in charge by the sheriff and escorted to jail.

Lenhart has been employed as a bookkeeper in New York.

WELL KNOWN YOUNG MAN DIES FROM CONSUMPTION

James McIlvaine Succumbs to an Extended Illness of Virulent Disease.

James Charles McIlvaine, 23 years and 7 months old, died last evening at 9:05 o'clock, at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McIlvaine of 333 Washigton avenue, after an extended illness of consumption. The funeral will be from the late home at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, and interment will be in the Gilmore cemetery, at Donora, leaving Charleroi on the 3:28 train in the afternoon. The deceased is survived by his wife and one child, his parents, two brothers, Bert McIlvaine of Toronto, Ohio, and John McIlvaine at home, also one sister, Mrs. Rush Mountsier of Elizabeth.

James McIlvaine was a well known glass worker. He made his home with his parents until a few years ago, when he went to Toronto, Ohio, to take up employment. Last summer he returned to Charleroi, and has been here ever since. He was a member of the Charleroi Order No. 1024, Jr. O. U. A. M., and of the Toronto Aerie of Eagles, No. 127. It is likely that these lodges will have charge of the funeral.

WILL GIVE INSTRUCTIONS IN MECHANICAL DRAWING

Local Man Engaged by Monongahela Y. M. C. A. as Teacher.

This evening a mechanical drawing class will be organized in the Y. M. C. A. night school at Monongahela. The teacher is Herman Nebelung of North Charleroi, a graduate mechanical engineer and a man of 13 years' practical experience at the board and in various responsible engineering positions with large steel companies. Mr. Nebelung will teach drawing, blue print reading and matters that concern the practical everyday difficulties of men and boys employed in machine shops or who have to do with machinery of any kind. The fee for this class is ridiculously small, a five dollar membership in the Y. M. C. A. and one dollar for tuition. The association will supply the drawing boards, but each student must have his own tools and materials.

DIVIDEND DECLARED BY RECEIVER STRAWN

Depositors will Receive 10 Per Cent More of Their Deposits.

Checks are being filed out by John H. Strawn, received for the Farmer's and Drover's National Bank of Waynesburg, for a 10 per cent dividend, the third declared since the institution closed in December, 1907. The checks will have to receive the signature of the Controller of the Currency at Washington, D. C. They will be distributed in about a month.

It is estimated the amount of the dividend will be $175,000 and of this $100,000 will be paid to Greene county persons. The first dividend was for 2 per cent., declared a year after the bank failed. The second, for 15 per cent., was given in April, 1908. Other dividends are expected.

Not Any Engagement Yet.

In the report of the organization of the Teachers' Choral Society published in Saturday's Mail, a mistake was made through a misunderstanding, it being stated that the society had an engagement already to appear at the County Institute. This was wrong It was intended to try to get a date, but none have been promised as yet.

MUCH MORE BUSINESS COULD BE DONE UP RIVER IF ROADS WERE IMPROVED

Many Charleroi Merchants Have Customers in Valley Towns, But Cannot Properly Accommodate Them.

Complaint is made by many business people in Charleroi who deliver goods and solicit trade up the river, over the execrable condition of the roads there. Even during the dry season it is stated the roads are cut up and full of holes so as to make them positively dangerous. One Charleroi business man stated not long ago that he could easily increase his business $2,000 a year if the roads up the river were in such condition that he could deliver a wagon load of goods at a time.

A portion of road in the vicinity of Roscoe was approved by the grand jury some time ago for improvement by the county but has been pigeon holed for a couple of years or more. It is also stated that this action was done for political reasons, as the vote at the primary in 1908 in that locality did not suit the previous board of county commissioners.

HIGH ENROLLMENT IN THE CHARLEROI PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Monongahela Prohibits Display on Sidewalks

Merchants Caused Annoyance in Past by Too Free Use Thereof.

Ordinance Officer Berkshire of Monongahela has served notices upon the business men of that place to refrain from the display of goods on their sidewalks, and instructing them in the future to keep the sidewalks clear from all obstructions. It has been the habit of many Monongahela merchants to leave goods on the sidewalks covering up a good part of the walk, and causing, it is said, considerable annoyance. Not long ago Monessen took a similar action.

PETITION TO BE PRESENTED

Important Meeting of Council will be Held Tonight.

An important meeting of council will be held this evening, the regular business and other special features to be taken up. The petition for a new gas company that has been circulated and on which there will appear in the neighborhood 600 names, will be presented. The ordinances for changes in McKean and Lincoln avenue at the northern end of town will doubtless be taken up.

"FRITZ THE WANDERING MUSICIAN" THURSDAY

An interesting and attractive performance of a new play "Fritz, the Wandering Musician" will be seen at the Coyle Theatre next Thursday evening. The piece is a four act musical comedy drama by Crane Wilbur. The plot is laid in Kentucky and revolves about the effort to obtain by murder and chicanery the possession of a valuable Blue Grass estate. As the vivacious musician, who serves also as a "deus ex machina," always appearing in time to save the blushing heroine, Joe Hortiz has an admirable opportunity to display his histrionic abilities, and he is said to rise to the occasion. His songs in the second and third acts are said to be repeatedly applauded. Anna Whitford does some clever work as Dolly, the persecuted heiress, and another picturesque performance is said to be that of little Baby Valentinee as Tess. Bertha Blank is a humerous colored wench, and M. Stroman evokes considerable laughter as Rev. Napoleon Bonepart.

Ladies' Bazar.

Dont' forget the Methodist Ladies' Bazaar on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 11, 12 and 13 to be held at the church, corner of Lincoln avenue and Sixth street. 70t3

ONE TEACHER RESIGNS

Miss Ida Gayman Forced to Quit Position on Account of Sickness.

The report of Prof. James G. Pentz, superintendent of the Charleroi schools, presented at a meeting of the school board last night, shows an enrollment of 1,828 pupils to date, higher than it has been thus far this year. The report of Superintendent Pentz was a good one throughout, showing that the rather unusual condition of the schools for the first month has been carried through the second month. The enrollment in September was 1,794.

In the school for the year to date there has been an average attendance of 98 per cent. During the month, however, the percentage for attendance fell to 97 per cent., although there were 1,001 pupils perfect in attendance. There are 25 pupils absent from the schools on account of contagious diseases. During the month there were 19 cases of corporal punishment, and one truancy of a half day was reported. Visitors numbered [illegible].

The report of the treasurer for October was received and summarized as follows:

Balance from last report	$ 447.05
Receipts for month	31,143.36
Total	31,590.41
Disbursements	5,551.11
Balance in Treasury	$ 26,03[illegible]

The report of ex-Tax Collector Parsons showed $398.30 had been taken in during October. Tax Collector Mathias reported a total of this year's taxes of $30,622.31.

The resignation of Miss Ida Gayman, teacher of a primary room in the Ninth street building, was read and accepted, the reason being given as sickness. Miss Edith Baldwin of Belle Vernon was elected in her place.

The canalization of the Youghiogheny River between the Tube City and Connellsville will be urged with more vigor than ever.

Dr. J. P. Blackburn, chairman of the committee on rivers and harbors, feels confident that the next Congress will take favorable action. He is one of the most active members of the organization, and has a vast fund of information, which he has gathered on the subject.

Why Not Charleroi?

In view of the large number of industrial plants seeking new locations the question naturally arises, why is no effort being made to induce any of them to come to Charleroi? There is no better location anywhere in the country. The transportation facilities are unsurpassed both by rail and water, while the close proximity to a fuel supply is also an advantage that figures largely in the location of big manufacturing plants.

Recently the United States Steel corporation dismantled two of its big plants at Bridgeport and Martins Ferry, in the Wheeling district, and located them elewhere. One, it is understood, will go to Morgantown, and the other to Sharon. Each of these, it is stated, will employ in the neighborhood of 2,500 men, and the location of these plants will mean a big thing to the respective communities they have chosen. The United States Steel corporation has a splendid available site on the Clark farm, just south of Charleroi, where one of the plants might have been located, had the proper effort been made on the part of local people.

Charleroi needs some civic body to take the initiative in this respect. While it is practically out of the question for the business people of the town to pay any more bonuses, there are other plans that are employed to attain the same ends. One of these that has worked successfully, is what is called the Williamsport system, a method adopted by the Williamsport Board of Trade, whereby the latter, instead of paying bonuses, guarantees a working capital for a new industry that appears all right, for a certain length of time. This is really better than paying bonuses, which are in reality a form of charity. The Williamsport plan gives a new industry a chance to help itself, and to stand squarely on its own feet. Much can be done along these lines for the benefit of Charleroi if only the effort were made.

A Note of Warning.

The intimation that the organization of United Mine Workers will ask for an advance in wages when the mining scale comes up for consideration next year, followed by the statement from some of the coal operators that a reduction is more likely to be asked by the operators, instead of granting an advance, indicates that trouble is in prospect, if the matter cannot be amicably adjusted before the impending disagreement becomes an issue.

In view of the possible results arising from such a conflict, should it be inaugurated, immediate steps should be taken to reach an intelligent understanding on both sides and on the part of the public, which is vitally concerned. The miners want more pay for their work as the rising prices of living commodities have diminished the purchasing power of their wages, and the operators declare they cannot pay it as they are not receiving advance enough in the selling price of coal to cover increased cost of production. These are matters which might be intelligently considered before the crisis comes, and be equitably adjusted. By taking action in time much business loss and suffering may be averted.

An Up-River Road.

The statement of one business man in Charleroi that he could extend his trade to the amount of two thousand dollars a year if the roads up the river were passable, ought to direct attention of the business interests of the town to the necessity of immediate action in that direction. What is most deplorable about his condition is that even in the summer time when the season is practically dry, the roads are in such bad condition that they are considered too dangerous to drive daily with delivery wagons from Charleroi. Local traffic that is carried on under these conditions is both hazaradous and expensive, and necessarily limited.

There is no excuse on the part of the townships and other boroughs for the bad condition of the roads in summer time. With a dry season like the past summer, the roads could have been put in a condition for the greater part of the year equaling the best of macadamized highways. Their bad condition in summer is due entirely to neglect and lack of scientific knowledge in regard to road construction. Charleroi's part in this matter is to promote and encourage the construction of a State road along the river, and by co-operating with the various townships and boroughs interested the people here can do much in the way of extending their home trade.

The Finish.

"Arising in an airship
Just like a cloud of smoke
Is very fine amusement
But
landing

joke."

Fighting is an uninteresting pastime, unless you are decidedly on the triumphal side.

An exhange publishes an account of a "punk" tea. Compositor must have been drunk when he set that. It was evidently intended for "pink" tea.

It's interesting to think what will happen if the coal miners ask for an increase in wages, and the operators absolutely refuse to grant it. It is hoped that President Lewis does not get too insistent with his advice about the wage scale, for it is he who can cause the trouble.

If Charleroi were half as progressive in all ways as it is in others, there would be no comparison to other towns in the country. It would all be contrast, with everything in Charleroi's favor.

The Rexall Medicine company make the statement that they have the best in existance for bowel movement. What's the matter with the Salome dance?

It's a great press agent stunt when a minister endorses a show containing a dance like Salome's and is considerably appreciated by the show people. But wait until that preachar's flock gets hold of him.

Down in Texas they are talking about an "anti-pass" law. When it's put into effect the newspapers will not have to growl so much over space taken by free advertising.

If every one is satisfied now that T. Roosevelt is not dead, why not quit talking about it?

It's nice to be old-fashioned. In the new theatre in New York they produced a play 302 years old, and people actually thought it was new.

While telegrams have not been received from Squeedunk, Farrell's Corners and a number of other places round over the country, indications are that they as well as the numerous other places President Taft has visited will issue a directory for his especial benefit, and head the list of names with his. Places where he is now supposed to be living are Beverly, Mass., Augusta, Ga., Cincinnatti, Ohio, Washington, and so forth. In all these cities his name occupies a prominent place in the directory.

LOVE'S DOUBTING.

A Phase of Life Through Which Many Married Women Pass.

The only incidents that marred our happiness were sudden and inexplicable "flare ups." Occasionally, to our amazement, a trifle would make us glare at each other like animals and speak bitterly. Five minutes later we would express our regret and shame. Soon I perceived that these quarrels were due to nerves and to the trial of adjustment. One evening we had an argument that was particularly violent and distressing. It ended by Frank's going to bed. I remained in the seat where I had been reading and for a long time I pretended to myself that I was going on reading. Presently tears fell on my book. Then I said: "How silly all this is! I am making myself suffer, and I am making Frank suffer too. I will go and tell him that I am sorry." So I stole into the bedroom. He was sleeping peacefully.

That little experience, not without humor as I look back on it, made me first realize how differently Frank and I could be affected by the same cause. It marked the beginning of my uneasiness. Soon I stopped reading aloud to Frank; why, I can't remember. Little things disturbed me. At first the thought of them used to be swept away by my delight on seeing Frank in the evening. Then, too, there would come the feeling that those things were accidents and would not occur again. In the second year of our marriage, just after dinner, Frank would read the newspaper till he began to doze. Then he would rouse himself and try to be agreeable. The effort troubled me. There was also the quiet and efficient deciding of little details without reference to my wishes. And here I felt there was danger. Once I said to myself, "Suppose I should tire of him," and I grew cold. Then I thought of the moment when I should discover that I was tiring him. Here my sense of humor came to my rescue, and I felt better. I imagine that many women pass through this phase.—American Magazine.

SEASIDE SOUVENIRS.

Plants and Shells Utilized In Making Attractive Articles.

If your vacation is to be passed at the seaside, especially if you have small children who must be amused, set them to collecting shells of different kinds, which you can turn into souvenirs for the home friends at small cost.

One young woman is collecting for a dressmaker friend a large number of pebbles in different sizes. These will be used instead of the lead weights or shot that in light frocks so often show a dark shadow, even through several thicknesses of material.

She is also gathering clam shells, the largest she can find, which when well scrubbed and tied up by the dozen or half dozen make welcome gifts to housekeepers, who can use them for individual pate dishes.

To a brother who is fond of botany and has not had an opportunity to be much at the shore she will give a collection of the choicest seaweeds she can find on a summer ramble. These are floated on blotting paper, then carefully transferred to loose sheets of paper of equal size provided with holes at the back for binding.

Where it is impossible to preserve the color of the weeds, the girl who has a pretty knack with water colors has made a sketch of them from nature, copying the tones carefully. On each page is written the date, place and time of finding the seaweeds.

Another friend, who is an amateur gardener in a small way and likes to propagate her own plants, will be taken a flour sack filled with the sea sand which is needed to mix with potting soil. This can be stowed in a corner of a trunk to save expressage.

For a hostess who entertains often there will be a set of novel favors to be used at a dinner for place cards. Scallop shells of equal size have holes bored at each side and the center of lower edge and are tied together with baby ribbons in three fluffy bows with hangers. Inside the shells are placed a couple of small pebbles to rattle, or there can be a quotation or conundrum bearing on the sea or seaside pursuits instead.

A SOUTH SEA ROMANCE.

The Mutiny Long Ago on the Bounty, a British Man-of-war.

Who has not heard of the mutiny of the Bounty? The romance of it still lingers from one end of the Pacific to the other. The descendants of the mutineers of the British man-of-war and their dusky wives are living and bear English names made famous, or infamous, more than a century ago.

The British man-of-war had gone to Tahiti. The commander, Blythe, was harsh and cruel to his men. The women of Tahiti loved the fair skinned sailors and sought to hide them from Blythe, their oppressor, but they were captured, and the ship sailed away, but only to return. When it returned, in command was Fletcher Christian, midshipman, and a score of mutineers. The brute Blythe and his loyal companions had been set adrift in an open boat. Marvelous to relate, after traversing thousands of miles of open ocean they reached the Australian coast. Here they found a haven of refuge at a British outpost. For twenty years all trace of Fletcher Christian and his companions was lost, although searching expedition after expedition was sent to Tahiti by the British government.

Each of the mutineers save the remorseful Fletcher Christian took unto himself a wife. As it meant death to their husbands to live in Tahiti, they helped the men they loved to man the boat that bore them away to seek some desert island. After sailing for many days in the extreme southern tripical sea the rock of Pitcairn arose before them.

Twenty years later a British merchantman sighted by chance the lone rock in the southern Pacific and sent a boat ashore. To the astonishment of the crew, dusky men and women ran down to the beach to welcome them in their own tongue and claimed to be "English." Only one old man among them, Adams, of pure British blood still survived. He was found, Bible in hand, teaching in the little Sunday school which he had built and where he had educated the children of the colony and taught them the tenets of the Christian faith.

When the news reached England a British man-of-war was sent for the last of the mutineers of the Bounty. Aboard was a king's pardon for Adams, so that, after all, he died a British subject, surrounded by his dusky children and grandchildren. The colony was then removed from the faraway southern isle to Tahiti, but homesickness overcame its members and they returned to the verdant rock.—New Idea Magazine.

MATRIMONIAL PARTY.

Given In Honor of a Bride to Be or Young Married Woman.

The following idea of Ella Miller, called "A Matrimonial Party," might be carried out in honor of some young married woman or a bride to be.

On the invitation card or note place the word "Matrimony." This will lend a touch of curiosity to the affair and give the guests something to speculate about.

On each place card write one of the following questions, cleverly arranged so as to make the best hit. The hostess can supply any other questions she chooses, taking care, however, that nothing personal or unpleasant produces a jar:

Can love's young dream be made a reality?

How can a timid man be made to propose?

Should men meddle in the affairs of ladies' hats,

Have you met your ideal?

Is there any one here whose engagement is yet secret?

What can be done with a man who reads the newspaper at the breakfast table?

Has he ever mentioned mother's biscuits?

Give your ideas of a model lover.

Should men study domestic science?

Do you prefer a young or a middle aged lover?

Do you believe in a tax on bachelors?

Is it true that men prefer beauty to good sense?

What will you say when you ask for money and he says, "What did you do with that dollar I gave you last year?"

Breaking Away From Work.

Our business men ought to break away from trade exactions long before they do—ought to do so as a matter of volition and ethical judgment rather than of physical necessity. They ought to get and give more enjoyment in life. They ought to do less for self and more for others. They ought to live more in books and more in the open and less at their desks and realize better health and longer lives as a result. More and more culture in all its forms is exercising a growing influence, which must manifest itself in lessened effort along the lines of money getting and the devotion of more time on the part of our business men to the pursuits which naturally accompany fortified leisure. Aristotle said, "The end of labor is to gain leisure," and Aristotle was a wise man.—A. Barton Hepburn in Century.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. WHY SALVES FAIL TO CURE ECZEM

They Clog the Pores—Only a Liqui Can Reach the Inner Skin.

Since the old-fashioned theory o curing eczema through the blood has been given up by scientists many different salves have bee tried for skin diseases. But it ha been found that these salves only clog the pores and can not penetrat to the inner skin below the epider mis where the eczema germs ar lodged.

This—the quality of penetrating—probably explains the tremendou success of the only standard liqui eczema cure, oil of wintergreen a compounded in D. D. D. Prescrip tion. After ten years of cure afte cure, the world's leading skin spe cialists have accepted this as th true eczema cure.

We ourselves do not hesitate t recommend D. D. D. Prescription a $1.00 a bottle, but for the benefit o those who have never tried the pre scription, we have arranged with th D. D. D. Laboratories of Chicag for a special large trial bottle at cents on a special offer now. Thi first bottle ought to convince ever sufferer, and, at any rate, it wil surely take away the itch at once.

Leader of Philadelphia Discontents Profits by Being Continually Whipped in Politics

TO GO IN ALONE HEREAFTER

Regular Republican Organization Has Much Important Work in Hand. How Gov. Stuart's Administration Practically Guarantees Republican Success in the Contest of Next November.

Pennsylvania, by a positive majority at the polls last week, gave to the world emphatic notice that she is still standing firm and with cheerful confidence to her Republican principles. There is no misunderstanding the result of the recent election. The verdict at the polls was distinct and decisive. In Philadelphia, where the Discontents keep in perpetual service an incubator for the reproduction of their kind, the regular Republican organization won out handsomely. Mr. Rotan, the regular Republican candidate for district attorney, was re-elected by double the majority given him for the same office three years ago. The leader of the Discontents in Philadelphia and the State, Clarence Gibboney, who was the candidate of several disjointed parties against Mr. Rotan, was whipped to a standstill.

But defeat is agreeable food to Gibboney and his dwindling band of discontents. In his hungry desire for public place, which he is constantly demanding at the expense of the regular Republican party, Gibboney has been whipped oftener and harder than ordinary men would enjoy, yet Gibboney really seems to enjoy defeats. He grows fat and sleek upon them. He has reduced failure in office hunting to a profession and he lives luxuriantly upon contests which invariably are failures. Immediately after each defeat Gibboney bobs up serenely, clamoring for another dash at the public crib and then he goes direct to the dear people—with begging appeals for more cash to keep him afloat and with which to fight the regular Republican party.

The official vote by which Gibboney and his dwindling band of discontents were swamped last week had not been announced before Gibboney and his fellows were upon the public with an appeal for more funds, promising more fighting and more pestering for the regular Republican organization. The people of Philadelphia are slowly but surely becoming convinced that Gibboney and his office seeking mania are luxuries more or less expensive.

There are indications that Philadelphia must go it alone in financing Gibboney in the future and that the Philadelphia Discontents must hereafter do their own fighting and must supply their own cash for their political disturbances. They are not likely to soon again fool outsiders into an alliance with them. The outside follows, no matter how ambitious, refuse to be fooled more than once and they refuse to stay fooled and do the paying at the same time.

In the recent contest the Philadelphia Discontents had material help from an ambitious contractor of Pittsburg, who has been hoping against hope to get into the United States Senate through some system of disorganization. However, the success of the regular Republican organization in Philadelphia and the State at large seems to have blasted the hopes of the ambitious Pittsburg contractor and it is understood that notice has been given by him that for the immediate future his purse strings will be tied in a lock knot and that the Discontents must, for a time, at least, struggle along without his cash. Reform, without something substantial in the form of an office or something equally as good, soon becomes wearisome to the Discontents, especially when they live outside of Philadelphia.

It must be gratifying to the people generally that the Discontents are discouraged just at this time. There is work of vast importance immediately ahead of the regular Republicans of Pennsylvania. Next November a Governor will be elected to succeed Gov. Edwin S. Stuart. A delegation to the United States Congress also will be elected then and at the same time a legislative body for the State will be chosen. The decided victory of last week points plainly the way to a more decided victory next November.

Gov. Stuart has been magnificent as an executive. He has seen to it that every pledge and promise made by his party in the campaign in which he was elected has been redeemed. He has given to his office his honest devotion and his administration has been wise and wholly clean. Gov. Stuart has demonstrated that he was made of the right material and that he represented the right party. His administration practically guarantees Republican success in the State next November. His policy has left the Discontents without an inch of ground upon which to stand in a State contest.

The election of a Republican delegation to Congress from Pennsylvania is of vital importance. That is a matter of deep concern to the employer and the employed. There should be no default in the selection of Republican congressmen. Congress has recently been making world history and its work is to be continued and extended. The State Legislature, too, must be of the proper brand. The Legislature will have before it much very important work and but one of its important duties will be the election of a successor to George T. Oliver in the United States Senate. There is a fixed belief that Mr. Oliver will be named as his own successor. His brilliant work in the Senate during the fight for the existing tariff law bewildered his political opponents and delighted his political friends and no backward step is likely to be taken in selecting his successor. Mr. Oliver stood magnificently alongside of Senator Boies Penrose in the determined fight for satisfactory tariff legislation and his re-election without much of a contest seems assured. In the currency legislation contemplated by the Republicans of the Nation Senator Penrose is certain to have a conspicuous part just as he commanded a leading place in framing our present tariff laws and his colleague must be capable. Mr. Oliver has demonstrated his capability.

A bit of current news demonstrates in a forceful way just what both Senators Penrose and Oliver did for this country when they fought long and earnestly for the existing tariff legislation. The whole world seems to be on the move since the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill was enacted into law and the pulse of prosperity may almost be heard beating in the announcement that, within a week, in addition to the many large contracts awarded and improvements provided for the Pennsylvania Railroad company is receiving bids for cars, car wheels and other steel equipment which are to cost some $18,000,000. Pennsylvania is certain to get the lion's share of these contracts and Pennsylvania workmen and manufacturers will get the bulk of all this money. Such monster contracts were not even contemplated before the present tariff bill was made the law.

Conditions now are Republican conditions. Over them the Discontents will, in the very nature of things, find rough sledding.

The people of Pennsylvania have their hats off to Col. W. R. Andrews, the chairman of the Republican committee of the State. The contest was managed with consummate skill. There was no effort at concealment. There was no disposition to confuse. Col. Andrews proved himself a commander worthy of the cause his party represented.

FOR CATARRH

Medicine Free in Every Case Where it Fails to Relieve.

Neglect or pessimism, we believe, is the greatest enemy the public has to contend with when applied to the loss or recovery of health. Practically every case of consumption might have been cured if hope had been maintained and proper treatment had been resorted to at the first symptom of the disease. Until the advance stage is reached consumption is curable. Catarrh is responsible, we believe, for many cases of consumption. It s about catarrh we want to talk to you today, incidentally consumption, since the two are so closely allied.

We have a medicine made from a prescription of one of the most successful catarrh specialists known. We believe it is positively without an equal. We are so satisfied that we are right, that we will supply the medicine free in every instance where it is used according to directions for a reasonable length of time, should it fail to give saisfaction in every particular. We want every one to try this medicine at our risk. There are no conditions attached to our offer. We put the user under no obilgation to us whatever.

The medicine we want you to try is Rexall Mucu-Tone. It is a catarrh remedy that goes direct to the seat of trouble. It is carried by the blood to every part of the system. It purifies and enriches the blood, tones up the mucous cells, and brings about a condition of health and strength that tends to prevent the germs of consumption from getting a start. Besides this, Rexall Muco-Tone is a wonderful appetizer, digestive aid and flesh builder. Its good effects are often felt from the very first dose. It is one of the largest and most satisfactory selling medicines that we have ever had anything to do with.

We know so much of the great good that it has done that we personally back it up with our reputation and money, which fact should be amply guaranteed to satisfy anybody. Rexall Mucu-Tone comes in two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. We urge you to try it. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Charleroi only at our store—The Rexall Store. John W. Carroll.

A PROPOSAL IN THREE LANGUAGES.

By F. A. MITCHEL.

[Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.]

On Lake Como, in northern Italy, is a little cluster of hotels and shops called Bellagio. The place is near the boundary line between two countries, in one of which French is spoken and in the other Italian. English Americans, French, Italians and Germans all meet here, and the lingual condition is similar to that at the famous tower of Babel. The hotel and shop keepers, boatmen and others are obliged to continually express themselves in one of three or four languages. French is the prevailing tongue, with English second and German third.

After having finished my education I decided upon a year's travel in Europe before beginning the practice of my profession, and that summer at the height of the Italian lake season I found myself at Bellagio. The hotel at which I stopped was on the very verge of Lake Como, the water plashing against its stone and marble porch. On the evening of my arrival I dined at one of the tables on this porch. The lake—or rather this portion of it—is surrounded by mountain peaks, which stand out in bold silhouette against the twilight. On the other shore, a couple of miles away, the lights of Cadenabbia were beginning to glimmer on the line between the mountain base and the lake.

At a table on my left sat a party some of the members of which were speaking Italian, others French. Among them was a beautiful Italian girl. They were drinking champagne and chatting merrily, while I sat alone, wishing that I might even understand what they said. One of the men addressed a remark to me in broken English. I met him more than halfway and was invited to join the party.

That night I dreamed of the Italian girl, Signorina Alicia Jacouti. I had carried on a spirited dialogue with her at the table, our language being one-tenth Italian, one-tenth French, one-tenth English and seven-tenths pantomime. Every one who knows anything about love knows that as a donkey feeds on thistles so love thrives on difficulties. A man may make love to any girl who speaks the same tongue as himself and go to sleep at the same time. There's no incentive in it. But when a fellow and a girl have but a few dozen words in common and must "scratch gravel" to make themselves understood the little god empties his quiver before them.

Well, the next morning I hired one of those delightful little boats with which Lake Como abounds, each furnished with a canopy and soft cushions, to say nothing of a boatman to do the work, and the signorina and I went for a "promenade," as they call it there, on the water. Perhaps you think there was nothing for the boatman to do but to row. Not much. He spoke French, Italian and English, the illiterate chump, while I, a college bred American, knew but one language. The signorina spoke French and Italian. So, you see, there were three tongues in the party. Before starting I slipped 4 lire into the boatman's palm. He thought it was to induce him to row fast. Not a bit. I had in view a different use for him. Besides, I didn't propose that he should make me and the girl ridiculous by telling people what it was. I wanted him for an interpreter.

As soon as we were off the signorina and I, leaning back on the cushions, renewed the struggle to communicate of the evening before. It ran like this:

"Eet is ver' bellisimo" (beautiful). "Vous n'avez pas" (you have not) "aucun" (anything) "so bellissimo in Amerique."

"Not a woman in the country so beautiful as you," I replied in four languages and a superfluity of pantomime.

"Ah, m'sieur!" (Clasped hands, smiles, eyes turned upward.)

It wasn't long before I had found her hand (under a fold of her dress where the boatman couldn't see) and a current of language common to all people, felt, not spoken, ran between us with all the sprightliness of a bubbling brook. So for awhile we sat without speaking. The boatman jogged along over the smooth waters which splashed softly against the boat. The reflection of the mountains and the heavens trembling in the lake started me again.

"Votre yeux" (your eyes), I said. "Boatman, what's the French for reflect?"

"'Reflechit,' monsieur."

"Votre yeux reflechit les— What's the French for heaven?"

"'Ciel,' monsieur."

"Bully." Then to the girl, "Votre yeux reflechit les ciel."

"Ah, m'sieur!" The eyes went up and the hands were clasped.

Fortunately that all important word is much the same in several languages, all derived from the Latin. It is amor (love), amo (I love).

"Boatman," I began and stopped. I couldn't even bear to ask for a word at such a time. "Boatman," I began again, "what's that directly behind you?"

He turned, and I whispered with my lips close to hers:

"J'amo voi" (I love you).

And so with one letter of French, one word of Latin and one of Italian I did the trick.

The signorina is now my wife and since she lives in America has been obliged to learn English. She considers it a harsh language and entirely unfitted for lovemaking.

PENNA. R. R. COMPANY TO RUN SPECIAL

Agricultural Convention Attracts Widespread Interest.

With a view to encouraging in every possible way the introduction of scientific methods of farming in Pennsylvania, the Pennsylvania company will on November 16 and 17 co-operating with the Pennsylvania State College of Agriculture, operate a Farmers' Special Instruction Train over its Erie and Pittsburg Division.

In announcing that it will operate this special train, there has been issued a circular to be distributed among the farmers, in which it is stated that the Pennsylvania company appreciates the fact that its interest are mutual with those of the people whom it serves, and for the railroad to prosper its patrons must prosper as well. This policy is in line with that of the entire Pennsylvania system, which, in the past three years, has been conducting an active campaign in the interests of scientific farming. Some half dozen Farmers' Special Trains have been run in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and in other sections Special Steamboats have been operated. The enthusiastic support accorded the railroad has evidenced the fact that its efforts have been attended with good results.

The Railroad company will place a special train the disposal of the lecturers from the Pennsylvania State College. Stops will be made at 17 stations on the Erie and Pittsburg Division. Two coaches will be used as audience rooms, and two lectures will be delivered in each car during a 45 minutes stop. The subject selected for the lectures are "Soil Fertility," "Meadows and Pastures," "Use of Lime," "Corn," "Markt Gardening," and "Dairying."

The following schedule has been prepared for this Farmers' Special Instruction Train:

WHAT EVERY WOMAN WANTS

How She May have the Benefit of an Expert Facial Massage Free.

Every woman reader will be interested in an ingenious invention called the Harlan Beauty Cup, which, when used with Crown Cream, offers a decided improvement over the old style hand massage methods. Crown Cream is the leading massage cream and skin food on the American market, and is a beautifier in the truest sense of the word. Many women use it without masage, because it is not only a wonderful healing and cleansing preparation, but it gives many of the best effects of massage without any manipulation. It is specially fine for use where there are blotches, pimples or other blemishes on the face, and for the eradication of wrinkles.

Used in connection with the Beauty Cup, the skin is given new vigor and the soft, velvety appearance of youth is quickly restored and retained.

Crown Cream is sold everywhere for 50c a jar, which is the price asked for face creams of the ordinary sort, none of which can equal the special merit of Crown Cream. CHARLES BENTLEY IS STILL IN RACE

That he was to quit the race for State Senator, was emphatically dened this morning by Charles A. Bentley of Monongahela, who sometime ago announced as a candidate for this important office. It was reported in a Washington paper last evening that the had through the interference of other office holders agreed to withdraw. This, however, was false, and Mr. Bentley, unless he changes his mind from the way it is at present, will be on the ticket at the next primaries.

THE CHARLEROI MAIL

VOL. X. NO. 71. CHARLEROI, WASHINGTON CO., PA., TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1909. One Cent

PLAN TO ESTABLISH FUND FOR SECURING INDUSTRIES

Charleroi Might "Ginger up" Some by Getting New Plants.

WILLIAMSPORT SYSTEM

Plan of Pennsylvania City will be Studied by Local People.

"What can be done to 'ginger-up' the old town?" asked a prominent Charleroi citizen recently. "We need something more here in the way of industries. It is my opinion that we should get together and employ some one to look after possible industries personally, whenever any are in prospect. I'm in favor of raising a fund for that purpose, and when something is promised have some good man devote his time to it and promote it like a private business enterprise."

Another citizen called attention this morning to the fact that the United States Steel corporation is dismantling two of its big plants at Bridgeport and Martins Ferry near Wheeling, and locating them elsewhere. One, he stated, goes to Morgantown, and the other is likely to be located at Sharon.

"I don't know, he added, 'but what one of them might have been landed here if the proper effort and influence had been put forth. Now that the business people here have disposed of the baseball indebtednes, they should be able to accumulate a fund for the purpose of promoting something in the way of more industries for Charleroi. I am heartily in favor of it."

In view the fact that the Clark farm above Dunlevy, which is being held for an industrial site, is available to the United States Steel corporation, it is believed that something might have been done toward locating one of the new mills there. This tract of land has been held for some years by the big industrial corporations, and when Donora was projected it was a toss-up until the very last which site to select, the Clark farm being given long and favorable consideration. Donora was chosen, it is said, on account of not being near any other large town, as it was the desire to operate a land company and build up a new town in connection with the installation of the big mills there.

There is a sentiment in favor of investigating what is known as the "Williamsport System," a method employed by the Williamsport Board of Trade in getting industries for that city. Not much is known of the details of the plan but the principal method is to endorse for necessary working capital for a promising prospective industry, instead of giving a bonus. It is probable that some action will result before long, as the importance of work in this direction is being felt on all sides.

Someone Can't Play in Someone's Yard

New Castle Herald Likens Dispute to Backyard Scrap.

The Charleroi Mail accuses the Washington, Pa., Observer, owned by Mr. Acheson, of publishing plate matter sent out by the Democratic State committee during the campaign. The Observer replied in dignified fashion that it was published as advertising matter at regular rates. Of course the real cause of these little spats is the fact that some one is not allowed to play in someone else's back yard — New Castle Herald.

LENHART BEGINS SERVING TERM IN THE PEN TODAY

Took Sentence Cooly Imposed Yesterday by the Court—Must Serve Two Years and Pay Heavy Fine.

William L. Lenhart was taken to Riverside penitentiary this morning by Sheriff John C. Murphy to serve a two years' term for conspiracy in connection with the wrecking of the Peoples Bank of California.

Following the refusal of the Supreme Court to grant an appeal, and the affirming the judgement of the lower court by the Superior Court, and ordering that the defendant appear in the court below to be re-committed, Lenhart appeared in court yesterday accompanied by his council, James A. Wiley.

District Attorney Acheson moved for sentence and Judge J. F. Taylor after calling attention to the fact that the Supreme Court had refused the appeal, then re-committed Lenhart to the pententiary.

There were no dramatic features. Lenhart took the sentence cooly and after bidding his counsel goodbye was taken in charge by the sheriff and escorted to jail.

Lenhart has been employed as a bookkeeper in New York.

The teacher is Herman Nebelung of North Charleroi, a graduate mechanical engineer and a man of 18 years' practical experience at the board and in various responsible engineering positions with large steel companies. DIVIDEND DECLARED BY RECEIVER STRAWN

Depositors will Receive 10 Per Cent More of Their Deposits.

Checks are being filed out by John H. Strawn, received for the Farmer's and Drover's National Bank of Waynesburg, for a 10 per cent dividend, the third declared since the institution closed in December, 1907. The checks will have to receive the signature of the Controller of the Currency at Washington, D. C. They will be distributed in about a month.

It is estimated the amount of the dividend will be $175,000 and of this $100,000 will be paid to Greene county persons, The first dividend was for 2 per cent., declared a year after the bank failed. The second, for 15 per cent., was given in April, 1908. Other dividends are expected.

MUCH MORE BUSINESS COULD BE DONE UP RIVER IF ROADS WERE IMPROVED

Many Charleroi Merchants Have Customers in Valley Towns, But Cannot Properly Accommodate Them.

Complaint is made by many business people in Charleroi who deliver goods and solicit trade up the river, over the execrable condition of the roads there. Even during the dry season it is stated the roads are cut up and [illegible] so as to make them positively dangerous. One Charleroi business man stated not long ago that he could easily increase his business $2,000 a year if the roads up the river were in such condition that he could deliver a wagon load of goods at a time.

A portion of road in the vicinity of Roscoe was approved by the grand jury some time ago for improvement by the county but has been pigeon holed for a couple of years or more. It is also stated that this action was done for political reasons, as the vote at the primary in 1908 in that locality did not suit the previous board of county commissioners.

Monongahela Prohibits Display on Sidewalks

Merchants Caused Annoyance in Past by Too Free Use Thereof.

Ordinance Officer Berkshire of Monongahela has served notices upon the business men of that place to refrain from the display of goods on their sidewalks, and instructing them in the future to keep the sidewalks clear from all obstructions. It has been the habit of many Monongahela merchants to leave goods on the sidewalks covering up a good part of the walk, and causing, it is said, considerable annoyance. Not long ago Monessen took a similar action.

An important meeting of council will be held this evening, the regular business and other special features to be taken up. "FRITZ THE WANDERING MUSICIAN" THURSDAY

An interesting and attractive performance of a new play "Fritz, the Wandering Musician" will be seen at the Coyle Theatre next Thursday evening. The piece is a four act musical comedy drama by Crane Wilbur. The plot is laid in Kentucky and revolves about the effort to obtain by murder and chicanery the possession of a valuable Blue Grass estate. As the vivacious musician, who serves also as a "deus ex machina," always appearing in time to save the blushing heroine, Joe Hortiz has an admirable opportunity to display his histrionic abilities, and he is said to rise to the occasion. His songs in the second and third acts are said to be repeatedly applauded. Anna Whitford does some clever work as Dolly, the persecuted heiress, and another picturesque performance is said to be that of little Baby Valentinee as Tess. Bertha Blank is a humerous colored wench, and M. Stroman evokes considerable laughter as Rev. Napoleon Bonepart.

ONE TEACHER RESIGNS

Miss Ida Gayman Forced to Quit Position on Account of Sickness.

The report of Prof. James G. Pentz, superintendent of the Charleroi schools, presented at a meeting of the school board last night, shows an enrollment of 1,828 pupils to date, bigger than it has been thus far this year. The report of Superintendent Pentz was a good one throughout, showing that the rather unusual condition of the schools for the first month has been carried through the second month. The enrollment in September was 1,794.

In the school for the year to date there has been an average attendance of 98 per cent. During the month, however, the percentage for attendance fell to 97 per cent., although there were 1,001 pupils perfect in attendance. There are 25 pupils absent from the schools on account of contagious diseases. During the month there were 19 cases of corporal punishment, and one truancy of a half day was reported. Visitors numbered [illegible].

The report of the treasurer for October was received and summarized as follows:

Receipts for month	31,148.36
Total	31,59[illegible].41
Disbursements	5,551.11

The report of ex-Tax Collector Persons showed $398.30 had been taken in during October. Tax Collector Mathias reported a total of this year's taxes of $30,622.81.

The resignation of Miss Ida Gayman, teacher of a primary room in the Ninth street building, was read and accepted, the reason being given as sickness. Miss Edith Baldwin of Belle Vernon was elected in her place.

Why Not Charleroi?

In view of the large number of industrial plants seeking new locations the question naturally arises, why is no effort being made to induce any of them to come to Charleroi? There is no better location anywhere in the country. The transportation facilities are unsurpassed both by rail and water, while the close proximity to a fuel supply is also an advantage that figures largely in the location of big manufacturing plants.

Recently the United States Steel corporation dismantled two of its big plants at Bridgeport and Martins Ferry, in the Wheeling district, and located them elsewhere. One, it is understood, will go to Morgantown, and the other to Sharon. Each of these, it is stated, will employ in the neighborhood of 2,500 men, and the location of these plants will mean a big thing to the respective communities they have chosen. The United States Steel corporation has a splendid available site on the Clark farm, just south of Charleroi, where one of the plants might have been located, had the proper effort been made on the part of local people.

Charleroi needs some civic body to take the initiative in this respect. While it is practically out of the question for the business people of the town to pay any more bonuses, there are other plans that are employed to attain the same ends. One of these that has worked successfully, is what is called the Williamsport system, a method adopted by the Williamsport Board of Trade, whereby the latter, instead of paying bonuses, guarantees a working capital for a new industry that appears all right, for a certain length of time. This is really better than paying bonuses, which are in reality a form of charity. The Williamsport plan gives a new industry a chance to help itself, and to stand squarely on its own feet. Much can be done along these lines for the benefit of Charleroi if only the effort were made.

A Note of Warning.

The intimation that the organization of United Mine Workers will ask for an advance in wages when the mining scale comes up for consideration next year, followed by the statement from some of the coal operators that a reduction is more likely to be asked by the operators, instead of granting an advance, indicates that trouble is in prospect, if the matter cannot be amicably adjusted before the impending disagreement becomes an issue.

In view of the possible results arising from such a conflict, should it be inaugurated, immediate steps should be taken to reach an intelligent understanding on both sides and on the part of the public, which is vitally concerned. The miners want more pay for their work as the rising prices of living commodities have diminished the purchasing power of their wages, and the operators declare they cannot pay it as they are not receiving advance enough in the selling price of coal to cover increased cost of production. These are matters which might be intelligently considered before the crisis comes, and be equitably adjusted. By taking action in time much business loss and suffering may be averted.

An Up-River Road.

The statement of one business man in Charleroi that he could extend his trade to the amount of two thousand dollars a year if the roads up the river were passable, ought to direct attention of the business interests of the town to the necessity of immediate action in that direction. What is most deplorable about his condition is that even in the summer time when the season is practically dry, the roads are in such bad condition that they are considered too dangerous to drive daily with delivery wagons from Charleroi. Local traffic that is carried on under these conditions is both hazaradous and expensive, and necessarily limited.

There is no excuse on the part of the townships and other boroughs for the bad condition of the roads in summer time. With a dry season like the past summer, the roads could have been put in a condition for the greater part of the year equaling the best of macadamized highways. Their bad condition in summer is due entirely to neglect and lack of scientific knowledge in regard to road construction. Charleroi's part in this matter is to promote and encourage the construction of a State road along the river, and by co-operating with the various townships and boroughs interested the people here can do much in the way of extending their home trade.

An exhange publishes an account of a "punk" tea. Compositor must have been drunk when he set that. It was evidently intended for "pink" tea.

It's interesting to think what will happen if the coal miners ask for an increase in wages, and the operators absolutely refuse to grant it. It is hoped that President Lewis does not get too insistent with his advice about the wage scale, for it is he who can cause the trouble.

If Charleroi were half as progressive in all ways as it is in others, there would be no comparison to other towns in the country. It would all be contrast, with everything in Charleroi's favor.

Plants and Shells Utilized In Making Attractive Articles.

If your vacation is to be spent at the seaside, especially if you have small children who must be amused, set them to collecting shells of different kinds, which you can turn into souvenirs for the home friends at small cost.

One young woman is collecting for a dressmaker friend a large [illegible] of pebbles in different sizes. These will be used instead of the lead weights or shot that in [illegible] so often show a dark shadow [illegible] through several thicknesses of material.

She is also gathering clam shells the largest she can find, which [illegible] well scrubbed and tied up by the dozen or half dozen make [illegible] gifts to housekeepers, who [illegible] them for individual pate dishes.

To a brother who is fond of [illegible] and has not had an opportunity [illegible] much at the shore she will give [illegible] lection of the choicest [illegible] can find on a summer [illegible] are floated on blotting paper [illegible] carefully transferred to [illegible] of paper of equal size [illegible] with holes at the back for binding.

Where it is impossible to preserve the color of the weeds, the girl who has a pretty knack with water colors has made a sketch of them from nature, copying the colors carefully. On each page is written the date, place and time of finding the seaweeds.

Another friend, who is an amateur gardener in a small way and likes to propagate her own plants, will be taken a flour sack filled with the [illegible] sand which is needed to mix with potting soil. This can be stowed in the corner of a trunk to save expressage.

For a hostess who entertains often there will be a set of seaside favors to be used at a dinner for place cards. Scallop shells of equal size have holes bored at each side and the center of lower edge and are tied together with [illegible] hangers. Inside the shells are placed a couple of small pebbles to rattle, or there can be a quotation or conundrum bearing on the sea or seaside pursuits instead.

A SOUTH SEA ROMANCE.

The Mutiny Long Ago on the Bounty, a British Man-of-war.

Who has not heard of the mutiny of the Bounty? The romance of it still lingers from one end of the Pacific to the other. The descendants of the mutineers of the British man-of-war and their dusky wives are living and bear English names made famous, or infamous, more than a century ago.

The British man-of-war had gone to Tahiti. The commander, Blythe, was harsh and cruel to his men. The women of Tahiti loved the fair skinned sailors and sought to hide them from Blythe, their oppressor, but they were captured, and the ship sailed away, but only to return. When it returned, in command was Fletcher Christian, midshipman, and a score of mutineers. The brute Blythe and his loyal companions had been set adrift in an open boat. Marvelous to relate, after traversing thousands of miles of open ocean they reached the Australian coast. Here they found a haven of refuge at a British outpost. For twenty years all trace of Fletcher Christian and his companions was lost, although searching expedition after expedition was sent to Tahiti by the British government.

Each of the mutineers save the remorseful Fletcher Christian took unto [illegible] death to their husbands to live in Tahiti, they helped the men they loved to man the boat that bore them away, to seek some desert island. After sailing for many days in the extreme southern tropical sea the rock of Pitcairn arose before them.

Twenty years later a British merchantman, [illegible] by chance the lone rock in the southern Pacific and sent a boat ashore. To the astonishment of the crew, dusky men and women ran down to the beach to welcome them in their own tongue and claimed to be "English." Only one old man among them, Adams, of pure British blood still survived. He was found, Bible in hand, teaching in the little Sunday school which he had built and where he had educated the children of the colony and taught them the tenets of the Christian faith.

When the news reached England a British man-of-war was sent for the last of the mutineers of the Bounty. Aboard was a king's pardon for Adams, so that, after all, he died a British subject, surrounded by his dusky children and grandchildren. The colony was then removed from the faraway southern isle to Tahiti, but homesickness overcame its members and they returned to the verdant rock.—New Idea Magazine.

MATRIMONIAL PARTY.

Given In Honor of a Bride to Be or Young Married Woman.

The following idea of Ella Miller, called "A Matrimonial Party," might be carried out in honor of some young married woman or a bride to be.

On the invitation card or note place [illegible] This will lend a touch of curiosity to the affair and give the guests something to speculate about.

On each place card write one of the following questions, cleverly arranged so as to call forth the best bit. The hostess can supply any other questions she [illegible] taking care, however, that [illegible] personal or unpleasant [illegible]

[illegible] love's young dream be made a [illegible]

[illegible] a timid man be made to [illegible]

Should men meddle in the affairs of [illegible]

Have you met your ideal?

Is there any one here whose engagement is yet secret?

What can be done with a man who reads the newspaper at the breakfast table?

Has he ever mentioned mother's biscuits?

Give your ideas of a model lover.

Should men study domestic science?

Do you prefer a young or a middle aged lover?

Do you believe in a tax on bachelors?

Is it true that men prefer beauty to good sense?

What will you say when you ask for money and he says, "What did you do with that dollar I gave you last year?"

Breaking Away From Work.

Our business men ought to break away from trade exactions long before they do—ought to do so as a matter of [illegible] and ethical judgment rather than of physical necessity. They ought to get and give more enjoyment in life. They ought to do less for self and more for others. They ought to live more in books and more in the open and less at their desks and realize better health and longer lives as a result. More and more culture in all its forms is exercising a growing influence, which must manifest itself in lessened effort along the lines of money getting and the devotion of more time on the part of our business men to the pursuits which naturally accompany fortified leisure. Aristotle said, "The end of labor is to gain leisure," and Aristotle was a wise man.—A. Barton Hepburn in Century.

WHY SALVES FAIL TO CURE ECZEMA

They Clog the Pores—Only a Liquid Can Reach the Inner Skin.

Since the old-fashioned theory of curing eczema through the blood has been given up by scientists many different salves have been tried for skin diseases. But it has been found that these salves only clog the pores and can not penetrate to the inner skin below the epidermis where the eczema germs are lodged.

This—the quality of penetrating—probably explains the tremendous success of the only standard liquid eczema cure, oil of wintergreen as compounded in D. D. D. Prescription. After ten years of cure after cure, the world's leading skin specialists have accepted this as the true eczema cure.

We ourselves do not hesitate to recommend D. D. D. Prescription at $1.00 a bottle, but for the benefit of those who have never tried the prescription, we have arranged with the D. D. D. Laboratories of Chicago for a special large trial bottle at [illegible] cents on a special offer now. The first bottle ought to convince every sufferer, and, at any rate, it will surely take away the itch at once.

Leader of Philadelphia Discontents Profits by Being Continually Whipped in Politics

TO GO IN ALONE HEREAFTER

Regular Republican Organization Has Much Important Work in Hand. How Gov. Stuart's Administration Practically Guarantees Republican Success in the Contest of Next November.

Pennsylvania, by a positive majority at the polls last week, gave to the world emphatic notice that she is still standing firm and with cheerful confidence to her Republican principles. There is no misunderstanding the result of the recent election. The verdict at the polls was distinct and decisive. In Philadelphia, where the Discontents keep in perpetual [illegible] an incubator for the reproduction of their kind, the regular Republican organization won out handsomely. Mr. Rotan, the regular Republican candidate for district attorney, was reelected by double the majority given him for the same office three years ago. The leader of the Discontents in Philadelphia and the State, Clarence Gibboney, who was the candidate of several disjointed parties against Mr. Rotan, was whipped to a standstill.

But defeat is agreeable food to Gibboney and his dwindling band of discontents. In his hungry desire for public place, which he is constantly demanding at the expense of the regular Republican party, Gibboney has been whipped oftener and harder than ordinary men would enjoy, yet Gibboney really seems to enjoy defeats. He grows fat and sleek upon them. He has reduced failure in office hunting to a profession and he lives luxuriantly upon contests which invariably are failures. Immediately after each defeat Gibboney bobs up serenely, clamoring for another dash at the public crib and then he goes direct to the dear people—with begging appeals for more cash to keep him afloat and with which to fight the regular Republican party.

The official vote by which Gibboney and his dwindling band of discontents were swamped last week had not been announced before Gibboney and his fellows were upon the public with an appeal for more funds, promising more fighting and more pestering for the regular Republican organization. The people of Philadelphia are slowly but surely becoming convinced that Gibboney and his office seeking mania are luxuries more or less expensive.

There are indications that Philadelphia must go it alone in financing Gibboney in the future and that the Philadelphia Discontents must hereafter do their own fighting and must supply their own cash for their political disturbances. They are not likely to soon again fool outsiders into an alliance with them. The outside follows, no matter how ambitious, refuse to be fooled more than once and they refuse to stay fooled and do the paying at the same time.

In the recent contest the Philadelphia Discontents had material help from an ambitious contractor of Pittsburg, who has been hoping against hope to get into the United States Senate through some system of disorganization. However, the success of the regular Republican organization in Philadelphia and the State at large seems to have blasted the hopes of the ambitious Pittsburg contractor and it is understood that notice has been given by him that for the immediate future his purse strings will be tied in a lock knot and that the Discontents must, for a time, at least, struggle along without his cash. Reform, without something substantial in the form of an office or something equally as good, soon becomes wearisome to the Discontents, especially when they live outside of Philadelphia.

It must be gratifying to the people generally that the Discontents are discouraged just at this time. There is work of vast importance immediately ahead of the regular Republicans of Pennsylvania. Next November a Governor will be elected to succeed Gov. Edwin S. Stuart. A delegation to the United States Congress also will be elected then and at the same time a legislative body for the State will be chosen. The decided victory of last week points plainly the way to a more decided victory next November.

Gov. Stuart has been magnificent as an executive. He has seen to it that every pledge and promise made by his party in the campaign in which he was elected has been redeemed. He has given to his office his honest devotion and his administration has been wise and wholly clean. Gov. Stuart has demonstrated that he was made of the right material and that he represented the right party. His administration practically guarantees Republican success in the State next November. His policy has left the Discontents without an inch of ground upon which to stand in a State contest.

The election of a Republican delegation to Congress from Pennsylvania is of vital importance. That is a matter of deep concern to the employer and the employed. There should be no default in the selection of Republican congressmen. Congress has recently been making world history and its work is to be continued and extended. The State Legislature, too, must be of the proper brand. The Legislature will have before it much very important work and but one of its important duties will be the election of a successor to George T. Oliver in the United States Senate. There is a fixed belief that Mr. Oliver will be named as his own successor. His brilliant work in the Senate during the fight for the existing tariff law bewildered his political opponents and delighted his political friends and no backward step is likely to be taken in selecting his successor. Mr. Oliver stood magnificently alongside of Senator Boies Penrose in the determined fight for satisfactory tariff legislation and his re-election without much of a contest seems assured. In the currency legislation contemplated by the Republicans of the Nation Senator Penrose is certain to have a conspicuous part just as he commanded a leading place in framing our present tariff laws and his colleague must be capable. Mr. Oliver has demonstrated his capability.

A bit of current news demonstrates in a forceful way just what both Senators Penrose and Oliver did for this country when they fought long and earnestly for the existing tariff legislation. The whole world seems to be on the move since the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill was whipped into law and the pulse of prosperity may almost be heard beating in the announcement that, within a week, in addition to the many large contracts awarded and improvements provided for the Pennsylvania Railroad company is receiving bids for cars, car wheels and other steel equipment which are to cost some $15,000,000. Pennsylvania is certain to get the lion's share of these contracts and Pennsylvania workmen and manufacturers will get the bulk of all this money. Such monster contracts were not even contemplated before the present tariff bill was made the law.

Conditions now are Republican conditions. Over them the Discontents will, in the very nature of things, find rough sledding.

The people of Pennsylvania have their hats off to Col. W. R. Andrews, the chairman of the Republican committee of the State. The contest was managed with consummate skill. There was no effort at concealment. There was no disposition to confuse. Col. Andrews proved himself a commander worthy of the cause his party represented.

FOR CATARRH

Medicine Free in Every Case Where it Fails to Relieve.

Neglect or pessimism, we believe, is the greatest enemy the public has to contend with when applied to the loss or recovery of health. Practically every case of consumption might have been cured if hope had been maintained and proper treatment had been resorted to at the first symptom of the disease. Until the advance stage is reached consumption is curable. Catarrh is responsible, we believe, for many cases of consumption. It s about catarrh we want to talk to you today, incidentally consumption, since the two are so closely allied.

We have a medicine made from a prescription of one of the most successful catarrh specialists known. We believe it is positively without an equal. We are so satisfied that we are right, that we will supply the medicine free in every instance where it is used according to directions for a reasonable length of time, should it fail to give saisfaction in every particular. We want every one to try this medicine at our risk. There are no conditions attached to our offer. We put the user under no obilgation to us whatever.

The medicine we want you to try is Rexall Mucu-Tone. It is a catarrh remedy that goes direct to the seat of trouble. It is carried by the blood to every part of the system. It purifies and enriches the blood, tones up the mucous cells, and brings about a condition of health and strength that tends to prevent the germs of consumption from getting a start. Besides this, Rexall Muco-Tone is a wonderful appetizer, digestive aid and flesh builder. Its good effects are often felt from the very first dose. It is one of the largest and most satisfactory selling medicines that we have ever had anything to do with.

We know so much of the great good that it has done that we personally back it up with our reputation and money, which fact should be amply guaranteed to satisfy anybody. Rexall Mucu-Tone comes in two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. We urge you to try it. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Charleroi only at our store—The Rexall Store. John W. Carroll.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

NOTICE is hereby given that stores which use the name of LOUIS BEIGEL will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. I do this for the reason that certain people have gained the impression that I am the proprietor of more than one shoe store. I hereby state that I am in no shape or manner connected with any other shoe store than the one located at 419 McKean Avenue, Charleroi, Pa. I make this statement so that the people will not be fooled into patronizing any of the so-called "sample" stores using my name, and afterwards find that they were dealing with the old reliable firm which has for seventeen years been doing business in Charleroi. Unprincipled methods have been introduced by shoddy dealers of the city who send out to ir hired agents in country towns cheap and unreliable goods. We hereby warn our patrons as ell as those of other reliable stores, to look out for stores that use our name and pretend that I n the owner of such stores.

Our Motto is: "Solid Leather Shoes at Popular Prices."

A PROPOSAL IN THREE LANGUAGES.

By F. A. MITCHEL.

[Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.]

On Lake Como, in northern Italy, is a little cluster of hotels and shops called Bellagio. The place is near the boundary line between two countries, in one of which French is spoken and in the other Italian. English, Americans, French, Italians and Germans all meet here, and the lingual condition is similar to that at the famous tower of Babel. The hotel and shop keepers, boatmen and others are obliged to continually express themselves in one of three or four languages. French is the prevailing tongue, with English second and German third.

After having finished my education I decided upon a year's travel in Europe before beginning the practice of my profession, and that summer at the height of the Italian lake season I found myself at Bellagio. The hotel at which I stopped was on the very verge of Lake Como, the water plashing against its stone and marble porch. On the evening of my arrival I dined at one of the tables on this porch. The lake—or rather this portion of it—is surrounded by mountain peaks, which stand out in bold silhouette against the twilight. On the other shore, a couple of miles away, the lights of Cadenabbia were beginning to glimmer on the line between the mountain base and the lake.

At a table on my left sat a party, some of the members of which were speaking Italian, others French. Among them was a beautiful Italian girl. They were drinking champagne and chatting merrily, while I sat alone, wishing that I might even understand what they said. One of the men addressed a remark to me in broken English. I met him more than halfway and was invited to join the party.

That night I dreamed of the Italian girl, Signorina Alicia Jaconti. I had carried on a spirited dialogue with her at the table, our language being one-tenth Italian, one-tenth French, one-tenth English and seven-tenths pantomime. Every one who knows anything about love knows that as a donkey feeds on thistles so love thrives on difficulties. A man may make love to any girl who speaks the same tongue as himself and go to sleep at the same time. There's no incentive in it. But when a fellow and a girl have but a few dozen words in common and must "scratch gravel" to make themselves understood the little god empties his quiver before them.

Well, the next morning I hired one of those delightful little boats with which Lake Como abounds, each furnished with a canopy and soft cushions, to say nothing of a boatman to do the work, and the signorina and I went for a "promenade," as they call it there, on the water. Perhaps you think there was nothing for the boatman to do but to row. Not much. He spoke French, Italian and English, the illiterate chump, while I, a college bred American, knew but one language. The signorina spoke French and Italian. So you see there were three tongues in the party. Before starting I slipped 4 lire into the boatman's palm. He thought it was to induce him to row fast. Not a bit. I had in view a different use for him. Besides, I didn't propose that he should make me and the girl ridiculous by telling people what it was. I wanted him for an interpreter.

As soon as we were off the signorina and I, leaning back on the cushions, renewed the struggle to communicate of the evening before. It ran like this:

"Eet is ver' bellisimo" (beautiful) "Vous n'avez pas" (you have not) "aucun" (anything) "so bellissimo in Amerique."

"Not a woman in the country so beautiful as you," I replied in four languages and a superfluity of pantomime.

"Ah, m'sieur!" (Clasped hands, smiles, eyes turned upward.)

It wasn't long before I had found her hand under a fold of her dress where the boatman couldn't see, and a current of language common to all people, felt, not spoken, ran between us with all the sprightliness of a bubbling brook. So for awhile we sat without speaking. The boatman jogged along over the smooth waters which splashed softly against the boat. The reflection of the mountains and the heavens trembling in the lake started me again.

"Votre yeux" (your eyes), I said. "Boatman, what's the French for reflect?"

"'Reflechit,' monsieur."

"Votre yeux reflechit les— What's the French for heaven?"

"'Ciel,' monsieur."

"Bully." Then to the girl. "Votre yeux reflechit les ciel."

"Ah, m'sieur!" The eyes went up and the hands were clasped.

Fortunately that all important word is much the same in several languages, all derived from the Latin. It is amor (love), amo (I love).

"Boatman," I began and stopped. I couldn't even bear to ask for a word at such a time. "Boatman," I began again, "what's that directly behind you?"

He turned, and I whispered with my lips close to hers:

"J'amo voi" (I love you).

And so with one letter of French, one word of Latin and one of Italian I did the trick.

The signorina is now my wife and since she lives in America has been obliged to learn English. She considers it a harsh language and entirely unfitted for lovemaking.

It was reported in a Washington paper last evening that the had through the interferance of other office holders agreed to withdraw. This, however, was false, and Mr. Bentley, unless he changes his mind from the way it is at present, will be on the ticket at the next primaries.
